

S&A Environmental Consultants, LLC (S&A) is a fast-growing Service Disabled Veteran Owned Small Business with its main office located in a SBA Certified HUBZone, focused primarily on environmental engineering and consulting. However, even though the company is small, our employees represent decades of experience in all areas of environmental engineering and technical support.

Bill Stutz, S&A's owner and President is a retired Air Force Civil Engineering officer with more than 20 years distinguished service. While on active duty, Bill's responsibilities included worldwide MILCON programming and design for a Major Command and management of the best Command-level environmental remediation program in the Air Force—the Tactical Air Command Installation Restoration Program. Since his retirement in 1992, Bill has worked with some of the best-known firms in the environmental business. He has also gained a reputation with his customers of being the most client focused program manager they have worked with.

In its short existence, S&A has been successful in recruiting some of the best environmental professionals in the business—people with years of experience on Air Force and other DoD projects—the people you have worked with and trusted for more than 12 years! As our business continues to grow and prosper, we will also continue a controlled staff growth to meet our clients' needs. As we grow, S&A will always remain focused on the two most important entities in the engineering business—you, the client, and our employees who are working hard to support you!

As a Service Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Business and a certified HUBZone contractor, S&A's services are accessible through virtually ANY government contracting agency—AFCEE, GSA, Corps of Engineers, or even your Base Contracting Office. For more information on our services and how to access them on a quick-turnaround basis, contact Bill Stutz at:
